March 28, 2021

To whom it may concern:

It is my pleasure to write this letter of reference for Mr. Anthony Merante, who was a student of mine in the summer 2020 INFO3136 Mobile Development/Advanced Java course. This is a course in the fourth semester of the Computer Programmer Analyst program in the School of Information Technology at Fanshawe College. Anthony proved to be an excellent student. He finished in the top ten percentile of the class, attaining a grade of 92%.

In addition to his scholarly achievements, for the winter 2021 semester Anthony volunteered to be a Peer Mentor in the School of Information Technology Peer Mentor Learning Commons program. This is a program in which senior level students volunteer their time (a minimum of ten hours over the course of the semester) to assist first and second semester students who are having challenges in learning the content of their various courses. He has proven to be a valuable asset to this program in assisting several students with mastering the fundamentals of programming and data bases, and I look forward to having him return to the program in the fall 2021 semester when he has returned from his summer co-op placement.

During the current pandemic, I am not in the office at our downtown London location at any time, so if you should require any additional information, please contact me by email at wpulling@fanshawec.ca and I would be happy to arrange a telephone call appointment.

Sincerely,

William J. (Bill) Pulling
Professor, School of Information Technology
Fanshawe College,
London, Ontario